This Homemade Russian Dressing is the best I have ever had. It is creamy, tangy, and way better than anything you can find in a store! This Homemade Russian Dressing is the best I have ever had. It is so much better making this dressing from scratch. Bottled dressing from the grocery store justA kitchen witch, sometimes called a cottage witch or a "Scandinavian" kitchen witch doll, is a puppet or homemade doll resembling a stereotypical witch or crone displayed in residential kitchens as a good luck charm and to ward off bad spirits. When I posted the first Bacon Cooking Test (October 2004), I knew that I would have to continue to test different ways to cook bacon. I was so sure that a second article would follow that I named labeled that first article as "Part I".
