Fake money Tax Commission of the City of New York In Walz v. Tax Commission , the Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of tax exemptions for property used exclusively by religious, educational, or charitable entities. Frederick Walz, the owner of real estate in Richmond County, New York, brought suit against the New York City Tax Commission, challenging property tax exemptions for churches. Walz alleged that the exemptions forced him, as a taxpayer, to indirectly contribute to those churches. WALZ v.
